2 Select a Source:

Web Conferencing:

Use a Web Conferencing application to conduct online lectures, collaborate with remote users, and share and receive presentation content.

WATCH VIDEO INSTRUCTIONS

1. Select Web Conferencing on the Touch Panel
2. Log in to the lectern computer and open a web conferencing application. Cisco WebEx, Blackboard Collaborate, Adobe Connect, and Skype are installed on the computer.

   You and your remote audience must have an account with any of these applications.
3. Initiate a video call from the web conferencing application
4. Computer is the default source displayed on the projector screen. Presenter Camera is the default camera view.

   *Your remote audience will see a view of you at the lectern.
   You can switch to audience view in some classrooms by using the camera controls on the touch panel.*

5. To share a presentation on the lectern computer with your remote audience, screen sharing on the application must be initiated.

   • If the Computer source is not displaying on the screen, select a camera view from the touch panel.
6. To display content from another device, such as a document camera or your laptop, select the source to share on the touch panel.

   • Audio will not play from your laptop.
   • The Document Camera and Laptop sources will replace the camera source you were displaying.
   • If screen sharing was initiated, Document Camera and Laptop will be displayed as the secondary source to the remote audience. Stop screen sharing in order to send the source as the main view.
